

Basque Public Administrations employed 139,885 people at 1 January 2020, almost 9,000 more than four years previously

58% of employed personnel were civil servants and permanent contractual employees, whereas interim and casual contractual staff accounted for 41%

Basque Public Administrations (without taking into account personnel working in the State Administration and the Social Security System) relied on 139,885 people working at 1 January 2020, according to data prepared by EUSTAT. The number of people working in the Basque Administration has increased year on year since 2016, standing at 8,969 more persons employed in this period, 6.9% more.

63.1% of those employed were women, against 36.9% men, maintaining the same distribution as the previous year. There has been a clear, and even steadily increasing, predominance of women in the Basque Administration over the years.
